Adam Hills was a quiet primary school kid with a prosthetic foot, who did all his homework and only spoke when spoken to. His dad sparked in him a love of comedy and together they'd spend hours watching and listening to the greats.

Adam's shyness and his missing foot never held him back. A steady diet of Rodney Rude, Vince Sorrenti and Robin Williams led him to his first stand-up open mic night on his 19th birthday.

In Best Foot Forward, Adam describes his early years on the Australian comedy scene, how he coped the first time he died on stage, his early-morning apprenticeship in radio, touring the world's comedy festivals, the magic of Spicks and Specks and his hosting gig for the 2008 Paralympics that led to his hit UK TV show The Last Leg.

ADAM HILLS is best known as the five-time Gold Logie-nominated host of Spicks and Specks, and hit chat show Adam Hills Tonight. When he is not conquering the small screen he is treading the boards as a stand-up comedian. He's won a Helpmann Award, released bestselling DVDs, performed for the Queen, and hosted the opening and closing ceremonies of the 2008 Beijing Paralympics.

This is the story of Tom Phelps and the 'other Kokoda Track', a story that has never been told. Seventy-five years later, Tom's grandson, award-winning actor and writer Peter Phelps, is sharing the unforgettable tale of resilience and survival.

THE BULLDOG TRACK

Peter Phelps

Trade Paperback 9780733639777 | $29.99

Ebook 9780733639784 | $14.99 | Hachette Australia

March 1942: The world is at war. Tom Phelps found work as a carpenter in the goldfields of the New Guinea Highlands. No one expected the Japanese to invade the Pacific, let alone take the northern cities of New Guinea.

As word of the invasion spread, Tom and his fellow workers were caught in the middle of it all. After the airfield was bombed, the Australian military told them to get out via the 'other' Kokoda Track. Kukuku hunters and Gurka allies would let them pass but did not do the same for the pursuing Japanese soldiers.

Back home in Sydney, his family were told that Tom had died. Travelling by foot, canoe, raft, schooner, train, luck and cunning, Tom Phelps eventually made it home, half-starved, suffering malaria and wearing the pith helmet he kept with him the whole way.

The escape was documented on Tom's helmet in indelible ink. Seventy-five years later, it sat next to his grandson Peter as he wrote this book.

PETER PHELPS is one of Australia's best-loved actors. Growing up hearing the stories about his grandfather's incredible survival in New Guinea during WWII, Peter is now writing a very personal book about Tom Phelps and the other Kokoda Track.

Bestselling author and acclaimed actor William McInnes returns with a book about a subject close to his own heart: Fatherhood.

FATHERHOOD

William McInnes

Trade Paperback 9780733635540 | $29.99

Ebook 9780733635557 | $14.99 | Hachette Australia

William McInnes, one of Australia's best-known storytellers and actors, has turned to a subject that is close to his heart. Fatherhood is about family, about memories of his father and the memories he's creating as a dad himself, with his own son and daughter.

Warm, witty and nostalgic, these tales are just like a friendly chat over the back fence, or the banter of a backyard barbecue. They will stir your own memories: of hot summer days and cooling off under the sprinkler while Dad works in the garden with the radio tuned to the sports results; that time Dad tried to teach you to drive - and then got out of the car and kissed the ground; or taking your own kids on a family road trip.

Fatherhood is full of memories: the happy, the hilarious, the sad, bad, and the unexpectedly poignant. You will laugh, you may even cry - but you will recognise yourself and those you love somewhere in these pages.

WILLIAM McINNES is an award-winning actor and one of Australia's most popular writers, delighting readers with his memoirs and novels. He grew up in Queensland and lives in Melbourne with his two children.

PETER PHELPS

I started writing because ... I discovered in my first form high school after-school detention class that you could create something positive out of a negative. Part of the punishment was to write a two-page story. You could leave detention if you finished the story. The deadline was reached far quicker if the surf was good. I made the high school magazine with my first published piece.

The best part of writing the Bulldog Track was ... I could tell an unknown chapter of my grandfather's and father's lives.

Describe Bulldog Track in a sentence ... A grandson's story of an ordinary man's war and survival on the other Kokoda Trail and the family who thought he would never return.

When I'm not writing I ... lean back in my chair and read what I just wrote, hopefully with a finger off the delete key. Then I surf & stand-up paddle. Fish and kayak on Pittwater; movies with my daughters; create and perform and/or direct characters for film, TV and theatre projects; and teach film acting and directing.

The book that changed my life ... I find it hard to answer, so I'll be a smarty pants - Emma by Jane Austen.

Discovery. Desire. Deception.
A wondrously imagined tale of two female botanists, separated by more than a century, in a race to discover a life-saving flower.

Kayte Nunn

Trade Paperback 9780733639388 | $29.99

Ebook 9780733639395 | $12.99

Hachette Australia

In Victorian England, headstrong adventuress Elizabeth takes up her late father's quest for a rare, miraculous plant. She faces a perilous sea voyage, unforeseen dangers and treachery that threatens her entire family.

In present-day Australia, Anna finds a mysterious metal box containing a sketchbook of dazzling watercolours, a photograph inscribed 'Spring 1886' and a small bag of seeds. It sets her on a path far from her safe, carefully ordered life, and on a journey that will force her to face her own demons.

In this spellbinding botanical odyssey of discovery, desire and deception, Kayte Nunn has so exquisitely researched nineteenth-century Cornwall and Chile you can almost smell the fragrance of the flowers, feel the touch of the flora on your fingertips.

KAYTE NUNN is a former book and magazine editor, and the author of two contemporary novels, Rose's Vintage and Angel's Share. The Botanist's Daughter is Kayte's first novel of transporting historical fiction, and stems in part from her love of flowers and all things botanical.

KAYTE NUNN

Before I was an author I was ... a magazine editor and freelance features writer. I was lucky enough to edit Gourmet Traveller WINE magazine for a number of years, travelling the world, drinking extraordinary wines and meeting the people who made them.

The Botanist's Daughter* was inspired by ... A visit to the Sydney Botanical Gardens. I was walking with my youngest daughter, looking for fairies, when I came across a cast bronze sundial in the rose gardens. It features a beautiful raised-relief of herbs and as soon as I put my hand on it the hairs on the back of my neck stood up. I knew there was a story there and I began to imagine a similar sundial in an English walled garden, seeing a young woman about to embark on a perilous journey.

Describe The Botanist's Daughter in 3 words ... courage, adventure, desire.

When I'm not writing I ... love to bake – cakes, cookies, slices and all things sweet. I run a bit to counteract the effects of the baking. I also read voraciously and indiscriminately.

My favourite plant/flower is ... I'm afraid I don't have just one, but I love scented, white flowers – frangipanis, freesias, old-fashioned roses, lily of the valley, stephanotis, star jasmine, gardenias, snowdrops, oh and bluebell woods and fields of poppies.

A fresh and exciting feminist memoir about what it means to never feel at home where you live.

NO-COUNTRY WOMAN

Trade Paperback 9780733640063 | $32.99

Ebook 9780733640070 | $14.99 | Hachette Australia

'I am Fijian-Indian, and have lived in Australia since I was three years old. Memories of my early life in Fiji are limited to flashes, like an old film projector running backwards. I remember a blue dress, a trip on a boat where my father handed me a dried, floating starfish that I clutched in my fingers, determined not to lose it back to the ocean.'

No-Country Woman is the story of never knowing where you belong. It's about not feeling represented in the media you consume, not connected to the culture of your forebears, not respected by your peers.

It's about challenging society's need to define us and it's a rallying cry for the future.

It's a memoir full of heart, fury and intelligence - and the book we need right now.

Serina has spent her whole life preparing to become a Grace - selected to stand by the heir to the throne as a shining example of the perfect woman. But her headstrong and rebellious younger sister has a dangerous secret, and one wrong move could cost both sisters everything.

TRACY BANGHART spent her summers on a remote island in northern Ontario. All that isolation and pretty scenery led to a reading addiction, writing obsession, and several serious book boyfriends. Tracy now travels the world army-wife style with her husband, son and sundry pets.
